

ABSTRACT

The inventive method and device for an automatic analyser, in particular for blood analysis sampling consists in displacing a sampling needle (5) rotatable around an axis (X2) which forms an angle with said sampling needle. Said method and device are particularly suitable for use in a small blood sampling automate.